Rediscoveries is a new series of performances of electroacoustic music and sound art events, presented by SERG (Sound Emporium Research Group) from the Department of Music. A new iteration of the Discoveries series which dates back to the early 1990s, the series will allow audiences to (re)discover works from all over the world. The second instalment of Rediscoveries features work by two PhD students at the music department, Luca Nasciuti and Clive Grace, and two other PhD students outside the University of Aberdeen, Robert Seaback from the University of Florida and Rosalyn Coull from the University of Birmingham.
